

Clark selected as TDCJ Chief of Staff

Jason Clark has been named Chief of Staff for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, effective May 15. The Office of the Chief of Staff oversees Executive Services, Governmental Affairs, Media Services and the Emergency Action Center, and provides administrative support to the executive director and deputy executive director.

Clark began his career with the department as a Public Information Officer in 2006, advanced to director of the agency's Public Information Office in 2013, and was named the agency's deputy chief of staff in 2017.

Jason Clark

Clark holds a bachelor's degree in Broadcast Journalism from Sam Houston State University. Prior to coming to TDCJ, he worked as a producer, reporter and bureau chief at several news stations. ▲
