

Saluting Employees

An employee publication of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice

Dunbar named deputy director RPD

In December, Marvin Dunbar was selected as deputy director of TDCJ's Rehabilitation Programs Division.

Dunbar holds a bachelor's degree in Finance from Sam Houston State University and has been with TDCJ for more than 25 years. During this time he has held various positions including correctional officer, property officer and community liaison with the Correctional Institutions Division, and auditor with the Internal Audit Division. Most recently, Dunbar was manager of Support Services in the Rehabilitation Programs Division where, as the agency's faith and community-based liaison, he facilitated communication among state agencies and public and private groups in order to help promote offender rehabilitation. Dunbar has also overseen a wide range of agency initiatives including chaplaincy, volunteer services and treatment programs such as the Serious Violent Offender Reentry Initiative and the Administrative Segregation Pre-release Program.

Marvin Dunbar

Commenting on his promotion, RPD Director Madeline Ortiz said, "Mr. Dunbar is an important asset for the agency and for this division. I look forward to the knowledge and leadership skills he will bring to this position." ●