

An employee publication of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice

Saluting Employees

Ramirez named deputy director for Parole Support Operations

In December, Marcus Ramirez was appointed deputy director of Support Operations for TDCJ's Parole Division.

Ramirez holds a bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice/Correctional Alternatives from the University of Texas at San Antonio and has more than 20 years experience with Parole. He began his career as parole officer before moving to management roles in both field and central operations. His most recent assignment was Region III director in Houston.

Marcus Ramirez

Stuart Jenkins, Parole Division director, praised Ramirez on his promotion, noting, "His extensive and diverse background, along with his integrity and strong work ethic, will serve the agency well." ●